

Picky Eater: Pancakes in a can

By Jolene Thym
for the Bay Area News Group
Posted: 08/05/2009 01:00:00 AM PDT

...

SQUEEZE A TREAT: I realize it's un-American, but I generally turn down frozen treats, mainly because they rarely deliver on the flavor front. That did not, however, stop me from saying yes to samples of Jolly Llama's new single-serving sorbet cups. Packaged in squeezable cups that are just the right size — 3 ounces and just 90 calories — they are just plain yummy. My favorite is the blueberry, with the acai a close second. The mango and strawberry are also tasty. The sorbets are about $1.70 each and can be found at Whole Foods.

Reach Jolene Thym at timespicky eater@gmail.com.