

Jolly Llama Sorbets Giveaway

November 15, 2009 · Sandy

Jolly Llama is going to providing Pajama Mommy Community a giveaway opportunity for one of our lucky readers– a home delivery of a 24-tube case of a single flavor. They are DELICIOUS!!!!

Jolly Llama Sorbets are a new premium frozen novelty:

- they come in fun-to-eat individual 3 oz. squeeze-up tubes
- all natural (no genetically modified corn sweeteners)
- low in fat and average just 75 calories per serving
- high in fiber and vitamins A & C
- four flavors: strawberry, mango, acai, blueberry
- available nationwide for home delivery thru the company's website
- currently in grocery stores throughout the Western US
- They're a healthier alternative to high-fat ice creams and artificially-sweetened popsicles—and kids love them.

I was shocked at how quickly my grandson liked these! We received the 24 count variety pack of the squeezable tubes and they were really very good. The great thing is that they don't taste like they are good for you! They have no artificial sugars or flavors but they are great tasting and sweet! If I hadn't known before they arrived that they were all natural, I would have thought they were just gourmet flavored sorbet!! They have quickly become a favorite in our house! And you don't have to worry they kids are eating too much of them!! YUMMY!!!

Wholesome Frozen Treats Now Available In Stores & Through Website

The year's most refreshing new grocery item is flying out of freezer cases throughout the West. Healthier than ice cream, and more nutritious than juice bars, new Jolly Llama Squeezable Whole Fruit Sorbets in single-serve tubes are made with whole fruit that's picked at the peak of freshness and flavor. They've been an instant hit with grown-ups because they're all-natural, low in calories, and packed with vitamins and natural fiber, and kids love them because they taste great and are fun to eat.

Just released in July, grocery retailers across the Western states have clamored to get Jolly Llama into their frozen foods sections. Over 150 stores, including most Whole Foods Stores (California), Oliver's (Sonoma County), Nugget Markets (Sacramento area), New Leaf Markets (Santa Cruz County), Berkeley Bowls (Berkeley), Mother's Markets (Los Angeles), Basha's and Sprouts (Phoenix), and numerous others in Washington and Arizona now carries the squeezable single-serve tubes. Consumers nationwide can order the four flavors (blueberry, acai, strawberry, and mango) for home delivery through the company's website, www.jollyllamasorbets.com. Suggested retail price is $1.49 for a 3 oz. tube.

As a responsible business, Jolly Llama uses packaging that is sustainable and 100% recyclable. In addition to partnering with local nutrition and sustainability programs in schools and communities, the California-based company donates a portion of sales to organizations dedicated to ending global hunger.

Rules

1. Contest is open to U.S. residents only.
2. You must leave a comment.

Additional Entries:

1. You may join our RSS feed preferably through the email subscription having the same email address on the comment that you have in the RSS feed.
2. You may write about our contest on your blog!
3. Tweet about this contest and comment here to tell us!

CONTEST ENDS: November 21, 2009 @ MIDNIGHT EST.

http://pjmommy.com/?p=6839&utm_source=feedburner&utm_medium=feed&utm_campaign=Feed%3A+PajamaMommy+\(Pajama+Mommy\))